Chapter 1 General provisions

Part 1.1 Introductory

1.1.1 Name of rules

These rules are the Anti-Money Laundering and Combating Terrorist Financing Rules 2010 (AML/CFTR).

1.1.2 Commencement

These rules commence on the later of—

(a) the day the AML/CFT Law commences; or

(b) the day these rules are made.

1.1.3 General application of these rules

(1) These rules apply to firms that conduct business or activities in or from this jurisdiction.

Note Firm is defined in r 1.3.1 and this jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

(2) A reference in these rules to a firm is a reference to a firm that conducts, and so far as it conducts, business or activities in or from this jurisdiction, unless these rules otherwise provide.

(3) However, these rules do not apply to a firm to which the Anti-Money Laundering and Combating Terrorist Financing (General Insurance) Rules 2012 apply. A reference in these rules to a firm does not include such a firm.

Note The Anti-Money Laundering and Combating Terrorist Financing (General Insurance) Rules 2012 (AMLG) apply to a firm that conducts only either or both of—

- general insurance business
- insurance mediation in relation to either or both of—
  - general insurance contracts
  - non-investment insurance contracts.

See AMLG, r 1.3.1.

1.1.4 Glossary

The glossary at the end of these rules is part of these rules.

Note 1 There are also relevant definitions in the INAP glossary. To assist the reader, the application of a definition in that glossary would usually be indicated by the word (s) being in italics (other than bold italics).

Note 2 By contrast, the application of a definition in the glossary in these rules is not indicated by the word (s) being in italics.

Note 3 For the application of definitions, see INAP, r 2.1.8 (Application of definitions).

Note 4 A note in or to these rules is explanatory and is not part of the rules (see INAP, r 2.1.6 (1) (a) and r 2.1.7).

Part 1.2 Key AML/CFT principles

1.2.1 Principle 1—senior management responsibility

The senior management of a firm must ensure that the firm's policies, procedures, systems and controls appropriately and adequately address the requirements of the AML/CFT Law and these rules.

Note Firm is defined in r 1.3.1 and senior management is defined in the glossary.

1.2.2 Principle 2—risk-based approach

A firm must know each of its customers to the extent appropriate for the customer's risk profile.

Note Customer is defined in the glossary.

1.2.4 Principle 4—effective reporting

except so far as the law of another jurisdiction prevents the application of this subrule.

(3) Without limiting subrule (2), the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls must—

(b) provide timely, unrestricted access by the firm's senior management and MLRO, and by the Regulator and FIU, to documents and information of the branch or associate, wherever they are held, that relate directly or indirectly to transactions in, from or to this jurisdiction;

except so far as the law of another jurisdiction prevents the application of this subrule.

(4) Subrule (3) (a) does not prevent a suspicious transaction report also being made in another jurisdiction for a transaction in, from or to this jurisdiction.

(5) Despite subrule (2), if the AML/CFT requirements of this jurisdiction and another jurisdiction differ, the branch or associate must apply the requirements that impose the highest standard, except so far as the law of another jurisdiction prevents the application of this subrule.

(6) Also, this rule does not prevent the firm and its branches, or the firm and the other members of its group, from applying higher, consistent standards in their AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls in relation to customers whose transactions or operations extend across the firm and its branches or the firm and the other members of its group.

Note Group is defined in the glossary.

(a) the requirements of the AML/CFT Law and these rules;

(b) the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls;

except so far as the law of another jurisdiction prevents the application of this subrule.

(4) Without limiting subrule (3), the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls must—

(a) require the third party, and the officers, employees, agents and contractors of the third party, wherever they are, to provide suspicious transaction reports for transactions in, from or to this jurisdiction involving the firm (or the third party on its behalf) to the firm's MLRO; and

(b) provide timely, unrestricted access by the firm's senior management and MLRO, and by the Regulator and FIU, to documents and information of the third party, wherever they are held, that relate directly or indirectly to transactions in,

except so far as the law of another jurisdiction prevents the application of this subrule.

(5) Subrule (4) (a) does not prevent a suspicious transaction report also being made in another jurisdiction for a transaction in, from or to this jurisdiction.

(c) being the firm's key person in implementing the firm's AML/CFT strategies in relation to this jurisdiction;

(d) supporting and coordinating senior management focus on managing the firm's money laundering and terrorist financing risks in individual business areas;

(e) helping ensure that the firm's wider responsibility for preventing money laundering and terrorist financing is addressed centrally;

(f) promoting a firm-wide view to be taken of the need for AML/CFT monitoring and accountability.

2.3.4 Particular responsibilities of MLRO

The MLRO for a firm is responsible for the following:

(a) receiving, investigating and assessing internal suspicious transaction reports for the firm;

(b) making suspicious transaction reports to the FIU and telling the Regulator about them;

Note For the obligation of the firm to report to the FIU and tell the Regulator about the report, see rule 5.1.7.

(c) acting as central point of contact between the firm, and the FIU, the Regulator and other State authorities, in relation to AML and CFT issues;

(d) responding promptly to any request for information by the FIU, the Regulator and other State authorities in relation to AML and CFT issues;

(e) receiving and acting on government, regulatory and international findings about AML and CFT issues;

(f) monitoring the appropriateness and effectiveness of the firm's AML/CFT training programme;

(g) reporting to the firm's senior management on AML and CFT issues;

(h) keeping the deputy MLRO informed of significant AML/CFT developments (whether internal or external);

(i) exercising any other functions given to the MLRO, whether under the AML/CFT Law, these rules or otherwise.

2.3.5 Role of deputy MLRO

(1) The deputy MLRO for a firm acts as the firm's MLRO during absences of the MLRO and whenever there is a vacancy in the MLRO's position.

(2) When the deputy MLRO acts as MLRO, these rules apply in relation to the deputy MLRO as if the deputy MLRO were the MLRO.

(3) However, to remove any doubt, rule 2.3.2 (2) (Eligibility to be MLRO or deputy MLRO) does not apply in relation to the deputy MLRO of a QFC insurer (other than a QFC captive insurer) that is a company incorporated under the Companies Regulations 2005 or a QFC bank when the deputy MLRO acts as MLRO.

2.3.6 How MLRO must carry out role

The MLRO for a firm must act honestly, reasonably and independently, particularly in—

(a) receiving, investigating and assessing internal suspicious transaction reports; and

(b) deciding whether to make, and making, suspicious transaction reports to the FIU.

Division 2.3.C Reporting by MLRO to senior management

2.3.7 MLRO reports

(1) The senior management of a firm must, on a regular basis, decide what reports should be given to it by the MLRO, and when the reports should be given to it, to enable it to discharge its responsibilities under the AML/CFT Law and these rules.

Note Senior management is defined in the glossary

(2) However, the MLRO must give the senior management a report that complies with rule 2.3.8 (Minimum annual report by MLRO) for each calendar year. The report must be given in time to enable compliance with rule 2.3.9 (2).

(3) To remove any doubt, subrule (2) does not limit the reports—

(a) that the senior management may require to be given to it; or

(b) that the MLRO may give to the senior management on the MLRO's own initiative to discharge the MLRO's responsibilities under the AML/CFT Law and these rules.

2.3.8 Minimum annual report by MLRO

(1) This rule sets out the minimum requirements that must be complied with in relation to the report that must be given to the senior management by the MLRO for each calendar year (see rule 2.3.7 (2)).

(2) The report must assess the adequacy and effectiveness of the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls in preventing money laundering and terrorist financing.

(3) The report must include the following for the period to which it relates:

(a) the numbers and types of internal suspicious transaction reports made to the MLRO;

(b) the number of these reports that have, and the number of these reports that have not, been passed on to the FIU;

(c) the reasons why reports have or have not been passed on to the FIU;

(d) the numbers and types of breaches by the firm of the AML/CFT Law, these rules, or the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls;

(e) areas where the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls should be improved, and proposals for making appropriate improvements;

(f) a summary of the AML/CFT training delivered to the firm's officers and employees;

Note See pt 6.2 (AML/CFT training programme).

(g) areas where the firm's AML/CFT training programme should be improved, and proposals for making appropriate improvements;

(h) the number and types of customers of the firm that are categorised as high risk;

(i) progress in implementing any AML/CFT action plans;

Note The following provisions require action plans:

- r 2.3.9 (b) (Consideration of MLRO reports)
- r 4.3.4 (3) and (4) (When CDD may not be required—acquired businesses)
- r 6.2.2 (3) (b) (Training must be maintained and reviewed).

(j) the outcome of any relevant quality assurance or audit reviews in relation to the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls;

(k) the outcome of any review of the firm's risk assessment policies, procedures, systems and controls.

2.3.9 Consideration of MLRO reports

(1) The senior management of a firm must, in a timely way—

(a) consider each report made to it by the MLRO; and

(b) if the report identifies deficiencies in the firm's compliance with the AML/CFT Law or these rules—approve an action plan to remedy the deficiencies in a timely way.

Note See r 7.1.1 (2) (b) (Records about compliance).

(2) For the report that must be given for each calendar year under rule 2.3.7 (2), the senior management must confirm in writing that it has considered the report and, if an action plan is required, has approved such a plan. The firm's MLRO must give the Regulatory Authority a copy of the report and confirmation before 1 May of the next year.

Division 2.3.D Additional obligations etc of firm with non-resident MLRO

2.3.10 Annual reports

A firm whose MLRO is not ordinarily resident in Qatar must report to the Regulatory Authority, in a form approved for this rule under GENE, rule 5.3.1, within 1 month after each 30 June.

2.3.11 Visits by non-resident MLRO

A firm whose MLRO is not ordinarily resident in Qatar must ensure that the MLRO inspects the firm's operations in Qatar frequently enough to allow him or her to assess the accuracy and reliability of the information supplied to the Regulatory Authority in the reports required by rule 2.3.10.

2.3.12 Regulatory Authority may direct firm to appoint resident MLRO

(1) This rule applies if, for any reason, the Regulatory Authority considers that the MLRO function for a firm is not being adequately exercised by an individual who is not ordinarily resident in Qatar.

(2) The authority may direct the firm—

(a) to require the individual to be ordinarily resident in Qatar; or

(b) to appoint another individual who is ordinarily resident in Qatar.

Chapter 3 The risk-based approach

Part 3.1 The risk-based approach generally

Note for pt 3.1

Principle 2 (see r 1.2.2) requires a firm to adopt a risk-based approach to these rules and their requirements.

3.1.1 Firms must conduct risk assessment and decide risk mitigation

A firm must—

(a) conduct an assessment of the money laundering and terrorist financing risks that it faces (a business risk assessment), including, for example, risks arising from—

(i) the types of customers that it has (and proposes to have); and

(ii) the products and services that it provides (and proposes to provide); and

(iii) the technologies that it uses (and proposes to use) to provide those products and services; and

(b) decide what action is needed to mitigate those risks.

3.1.2 Approach to risk mitigation must be based on suitable methodology

(1) The intensity of a firm's approach to the mitigation of its money laundering and terrorist financing risks must be based on a suitable methodology (a threat assessment methodology) that addresses the risks that it faces.

(2) A firm must be able to demonstrate that its threat assessment methodology—

(a) includes assessing the risk profile of the business relationship with each customer by scoring the relationship; and

Note 1 Business relationship is defined in r 4.2.4.

Note 2 For scoring the business relationship in relation to customer risk, product risk, interface risk and jurisdiction risk, see r 3.2.3, r 3.3.3, r 3.4.3 and r 3.5.3, respectively.

(b) is suitable for the size, complexity and nature of the firm's business; and

(c) is designed to enable the firm—

(i) to identify and recognise any changes in its money laundering and terrorist financing risks; and

(ii) to change its threat assessment methodology as needed; and

(d) includes assessing risks posed by—

(i) new products and services; and

(ii) new or developing technologies.

(3) A firm must also be able to demonstrate that its practice matches its threat assessment methodology.

3.1.3 Risk profiling a business relationship

(1) In developing the risk profile of a business relationship with a customer, a firm must consider at least the following 4 risk elements in relation to the relationship:

(a) customer risk;

(b) product risk;

(c) interface risk;

(d) jurisdiction risk.

(2) The firm must identify any other risk elements that are relevant to the business relationship, especially because of the size, complexity and nature of its business and any business of its customer.

(3) The firm must also consider the risk elements (if any) identified under subrule (2) in relation to the business relationship.

(4) Together the 4 risk elements mentioned in subrule (1), and any other risk elements identified under subrule (2), combine to produce the risk profile of the business relationship.

(5) This risk profile must be taken into account in deciding the intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring to be conducted for the customer.

Note Each of the 4 risk elements mentioned in r (1) is dealt with in the following parts of this chapter.

Part 3.2 Customer risk

Note for pt 3.2

This part relates to the risks posed by the types of customers of a firm.

3.2.1 Risk assessment for customer risk

(1) A firm must assess and document the risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by different types of customers.

Examples of types of customers

1 salaried employees with no other significant sources of income or wealth

2 publicly listed companies

3 legal arrangements

4 politically exposed persons

(2) The intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring conducted for a particular customer must be proportionate to the perceived or potential level of risk posed by the relationship with that customer.

3.2.2 Policies etc for customer risk

A firm must have policies, procedures, systems and controls to address the specific risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by different types of customers.

3.2.3 Scoring business relationships—types of customers

A firm must include, in its methodology, a statement of the basis on which business relationships with customers will be scored, having regard to the different types of customers it has (and proposes to have).

Example

The risk to the firm from a salaried employee whose only transactions are those derived from electronic payments made by the employee's employer are going to be much lower than the risk to the firm from an individual whose transactions are cash-based with no discernable source for this activity.

3.2.4 Persons associated with terrorist acts etc—enhanced CDD and ongoing monitoring

(1) This rule applies to a customer of a firm if the firm knows or suspects that the customer is—

(a) an individual, charity, non-profit organisation or other entity that is associated with, or involved in, terrorist acts, terrorist financing or a terrorist organisation; or

Note Non-profit organisation, terrorist act, terrorist financing and terrorist organisation are defined in the glossary.

(b) an individual or other entity that is subject to sanctions or other international initiatives.

(2) Irrespective of the risk score otherwise obtained for the customer, the firm must conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring for the customer.

Note See esp r 4.2.2 (What is ongoing monitoring?) and r 4.3.10 (Ongoing monitoring required).

(3) A decision to enter into a business relationship with the customer must only be taken with senior management approval after enhanced customer due diligence measures have been conducted.

3.2.5 Measures for politically exposed persons

A firm must, as a minimum, adopt the following measures to reduce the risks associated with establishing and maintaining business relationships with politically exposed persons (PEPs):

(a) the firm must have clear policies, procedures, systems and controls for business relationships with PEPs;

Note Politically exposed person (or PEP) is defined in r 1.3.6.

(b) the firm must establish and maintain an appropriate risk management system to decide whether a potential or existing customer, or the beneficial owner of a potential or existing customer, is a PEP;

Examples of measures forming part of a risk management system

1 seeking relevant information from customers

2 referring to publicly available information

3 having access to, and referring to, commercial electronic databases of PEPs

(c) decisions to enter into business relationships with PEPs must only be taken with senior management approval after enhanced customer due diligence measures have been conducted;

(d) if an existing customer, or the beneficial owner of an existing customer, is subsequently found to be, or to have become, a PEP—the relationship may be continued only with senior management approval;

(e) the firm must take reasonable measures to establish the sources of wealth and funds of customers and beneficial owners identified as PEPs;

(f) PEPs must be subject to enhanced ongoing monitoring.

3.2.6 Legal persons, legal arrangements and facilities—risk assessment process

(1) A firm's risk assessment process must include a recognition of the risks posed by legal persons, legal arrangements and facilities.

Examples of legal persons

1 companies

2 partnerships

Example of legal arrangement

express trust

Examples of facilities

1 nominee shareholdings

2 powers of attorney

Note Legal person and legal arrangement are defined in the glossary.

(2) In assessing the risks posed by a legal person or legal arrangement, a firm must ensure that the risks posed by any beneficial owners, officers, shareholders, trustees, settlors, beneficiaries, managers and other relevant entities are reflected in the risk profile of the person or arrangement.

(3) In assessing the risks posed by a facility, a firm must ensure that the risks posed by any reduction in transparency, or any increased ability to conceal or obscure, are reflected in the facility's risk profile.

(4) Subrules (2) and (3) do not limit the matters to be reflected in the risk profile of a legal person, legal arrangement or facility.

Part 3.3 Product risk

Notes for pt 3.3

1 This part relates to the risks posed by the types of products offered by a firm.

2 Product includes the provision of a service (see glossary).

3.3.1 Risk assessment for product risk

(1) A firm must assess and document the risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the types of products it offers (and proposes to offer).

Examples of types of products

1 savings accounts

2 e-money products

3 payable through accounts

4 wire transfers

5 life insurance contracts

(2) The intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring conducted in relation to a particular type of product must be proportionate to the perceived or potential level of risk posed by the type of product.

3.3.2 Policies etc for product risk

A firm must have policies, procedures, systems and controls to address the specific risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the types of products it offers (and proposes to offer).

3.3.3 Scoring business relationships—types of products

A firm must include, in its methodology, a statement of the basis on which business relationships with customers will be scored, having regard to the types of products it offers (and proposes to offer) to them.

3.3.4 Products with fictitious or false names or no names

(1) A financial institution must not permit any of its products to be used if the product—

(a) uses a fictitious or false name for a customer; or

(b) does not identify the customer's name.

(2) Subrule (1) does not prevent the financial institution from providing a level of privacy to the customer within the financial institution itself by not including the customer's name or details on the account name or customer file if—

(a) records of the customer's details are kept in a more secure environment in the firm itself; and

(b) the records are available to the financial institution's senior management and MLRO, and to the Regulator and FIU.

(3) Without limiting subrule (1), if the financial institution has numbered accounts, the financial institution must maintain them in a way that enables it to fully comply with the AML/CFT Law and these rules.

Example for r (3)

The financial institution could properly identify the customer for an account in accordance with the AML/CFT Law and these rules and make the customer identification records available to the MLRO, other appropriate officers and employees, the Regulator and the FIU.

3.3.5 Correspondent banking relationships generally

(1) Before a financial institution (the correspondent) establishes a correspondent banking relationship with a financial institution (the respondent) in a foreign jurisdiction, the correspondent must do all of the following:

(a) gather sufficient information about the respondent to understand fully the nature of its business;

(b) decide from publicly available information the respondent's reputation and the quality of its regulation and supervision;

(c) assess the respondent's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls, and decide that they are adequate and effective;

(d) obtain senior management approval to establish the relationship;

(e) document the respective responsibilities of the respondent and correspondent, including in relation to AML and CFT matters;

(f) be satisfied that, in relation to the respondent's customers that will have direct access to accounts of the correspondent, the respondent—

(i) will have conducted customer due diligence measures for the customers and verified the customers' identities; and

(ii) will conduct ongoing monitoring for the customers; and

(iii) will be able to provide to the correspondent, on request, the documents, data or information obtained in conducting CDD and ongoing monitoring for the customers.

Note Correspondent banking is defined in r 1.3.7 and foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1) (b), in making a decision for that provision, the correspondent must consider all of the following:

(a) whether the respondent has been the subject of any investigation, or civil or criminal proceeding, relating to money laundering or terrorist financing;

(b) the respondent's financial position;

(c) whether it is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by a regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency equivalent to the Regulator in each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates;

(d) whether each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates has an effective AML/CFT regime;

Note See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

(e) if the respondent is a subsidiary of another legal person—the following additional matters:

(i) the other person's domicile and location (if different);

(ii) its reputation;

(iii) whether it is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by a regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency equivalent to the Regulator in each jurisdiction in which it operates;

(iv) whether each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates has an effective AML/CFT regime;

(v) its ownership, control and management structure (including whether it is owned, controlled or managed by a politically exposed person).

(3) If the correspondent establishes a correspondent banking relationship with the respondent, the correspondent must—

(a) if the respondent is in a high risk jurisdiction—conduct enhanced ongoing monitoring of the volume and nature of the transactions conducted under the relationship; and

(b) in any case—at least annually review the relationship and the transactions conducted under it.

Note See esp pt 3.5 (Jurisdiction risk).

3.3.6 Shell banks

(1) A shell bank must not be established in, or operate in or from, this jurisdiction.

Note Shell bank is defined in r 1.3.8.

(2) A financial institution must not enter into, or continue, a correspondent banking relationship or correspondent securities relationship with a shell bank.

Note Correspondent banking is defined in r 1.3.7. Correspondent securities relationship is defined in r 1.3.9.

(3) A financial institution must not enter into, or continue—

(a) a correspondent banking relationship with a bank in any jurisdiction if the bank is known to permit its accounts to be used by a shell bank; or

(b) a correspondent securities relationship with a firm in any jurisdiction if the firm is known to permit its accounts to be used by a shell bank.

3.3.7 Payable through accounts

(1) The rule applies if—

(a) a financial institution (the correspondent) has a correspondent banking relationship with a financial institution (the respondent) in a foreign jurisdiction; and

(b) under the relationship, a customer of the respondent who is not a customer of the correspondent may have direct access to an account of the correspondent.

Note Foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

(2) The correspondent must not allow the customer to have access to the account unless the correspondent is satisfied that the respondent—

(a) has conducted customer due diligence measures for the customer and verified the customer's identity; and

(b) conducts ongoing monitoring for the customer; and

(c) can provide to the correspondent, on request, the documents, data and information obtained in conducting CDD and ongoing monitoring for the customer.

(3) If—

(a) the correspondent asks the respondent for documents, data or information mentioned in subrule (2) (c); and

(b) the respondent fails to satisfactorily comply with the request;

the correspondent must immediately terminate the customer's access to accounts of the correspondent and consider making a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

3.3.8 Powers of attorney

(1) This rule applies to a power of attorney if it authorises the holder to exercise control over assets of the grantor.

(2) Before becoming involved in or associated with a transaction involving the power of attorney, a firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for both the holder and the grantor.

(3) For subrule (2), the holder and the grantor are both taken to be customers of the firm.

3.3.9 Bearer shares and share warrants to bearer

(1) In this rule:

bearer instrument means—

(a) a bearer share; or

(b) a share warrant to bearer.

(2) A firm must have adequate AML/CFT customer due diligence policies, procedures, systems and controls for risks related to the use of bearer instruments.

(3) Before becoming involved in or associated with a transaction involving the conversion of a bearer instrument to registered form, or the surrender of coupons for a bearer instrument for payment of dividend, bonus or a capital event, a firm must conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures for the holder of the instrument and any beneficial owner.

(4) For subrule (3), the holder and any beneficial owner are taken to be customers of the firm.

3.3.10 Wire transfers, money or value transfer services, etc

(1) This rule applies to a transaction conducted by a financial institution (X) by electronic means on behalf of a person (the originator) with a view to making an amount of money available to a person (the recipient) at another financial institution (Y).

(2) This rule applies to the transaction whether or not—

(a) the originator and recipient are the same person; or

(b) the transaction is conducted through intermediary financial institutions; or

(c) X, Y or any intermediary financial institution is outside Qatar.

(3) However, this rule does not apply to a transaction conducted using a credit or debit card if—

(a) the card number accompanies all transfers flowing from the transaction; and

Examples of transfers that may flow from the transaction

1 withdrawals from a bank account through an ATM

2 cash advances from a credit card

3 payments for goods and services

(b) the card is not used as a payment system to effect a money transfer.

(4) Also, this rule does not apply—

(a) to financial institution to financial institution transfers; or

(b) if the originator and recipient are both financial institutions acting on their own behalf.

(5) If X is in Qatar, X must—

(a) obtain and keep full originator information; and

(b) conduct customer due diligence measures for the originator;

unless Y and all intermediary financial institutions (if any) are in Qatar and the transaction involves the transfer of less than the threshold amount.

Note Full originator information and threshold amount are defined in r (13).

(6) To remove any doubt, X needs only to comply with subrule (5) once for the originator.

(7) If X is in Qatar and Y or any intermediary financial institution is outside Qatar, X must include full originator information and full recipient information in a message or payment form accompanying the transfer.

Note Full recipient information is defined in r 3.3.10 (13).

(8) However, if several separate transfers from the same originator are bundled in a batch file for transmission to several recipients in a foreign jurisdiction, X needs only to include the originator's account number or unique reference number in relation to each individual transfer if the batch file (in which the individual transfers are batched) contains full originator information, and full recipient information for each recipient, that is fully traceable in the foreign jurisdiction.

(9) If X, Y and all intermediate financial institutions (if any) are in Qatar, X must include full originator information and full recipient information in a message or payment form accompanying the transfer unless—

(a) the transaction involves the transfer of less than the threshold amount; or

(b) both of the following conditions are satisfied:

(i) full originator information and full recipient information can be made available to Y, the Regulator, the FIU and law enforcement authorities within 3 business days after the day the information is requested;

(ii) law enforcement authorities can compel immediate production of the information.

(10) Each intermediary financial institution (if any) must ensure that all information relating to the originator and recipient that the financial institution receives in a message or payment form accompanying the transfer is transmitted to the next financial institution.

(11) If Y is in Qatar and is aware that full originator information or full recipient information has not been provided in a message or payment form accompanying the transfer (and is not fully traceable using a batch file as mentioned in subrule (8)), Y must—

(a) either—

(i) reject the transfer; or

(ii) obtain the missing or incomplete information from X; and

(b) using a risk-sensitive approach, decide whether a suspicious transaction report should be made to the FIU.

Note See div 5.1.C (External reporting).

(12) If X has regularly failed to provide the required information about the originators or recipients of transactions and Y is in Qatar, Y must—

(a) take appropriate steps to ensure that X does not contravene this rule; and

(b) report the matter to the FIU.

Examples of steps

1 issuing warnings and setting deadlines for the provision of information

2 rejecting future transfers from X

3 restricting or terminating any business relationship with X

(13) In this rule:

full originator information means the following information about the originator:

(a) the originator's name;

(b) the originator's account number or, if there is no account number, a unique reference number;

(c) the originator's address, national identity number, customer identification number, or date and place of birth.

full recipient information means the following information about the beneficiary:

(a) the recipient's name;

(b) the recipient's account number, or if there is no account number, a unique reference number.

threshold amount means 4,000 Riyals (or its equivalent in any other currency at the relevant time).

3.3.11 Correspondent securities relationships generally

(1) Before a firm (the correspondent) establishes a correspondent securities relationship with another firm (the respondent) in a foreign jurisdiction, the correspondent must do all of the following:

(a) gather sufficient information about the respondent to understand fully the nature of its business;

(b) decide from publicly available information the respondent's reputation and the quality of its regulation and supervision;

(c) assess the respondent's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls, and decide that they are adequate and effective;

(d) obtain senior management approval to establish the relationship;

(e) document its responsibilities and those of the respondent, including in relation to AML and CFT matters;

(f) be satisfied that, in relation to the respondent's customers that will have direct access to accounts of the correspondent, the respondent—

(i) will have conducted customer due diligence measures for the customers and verified the customers' identities; and

(ii) will conduct ongoing monitoring for the customers; and

(iii) will be able to provide to the correspondent, on request, the documents, data or information obtained in conducting CDD and ongoing monitoring for the customers.

Note Correspondent securities relationship is defined in r 1.3.9 and foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1) (b), in making a decision for that provision, the correspondent must consider all of the following:

(a) whether the respondent has been the subject of any investigation, or civil or criminal proceeding, relating to money laundering or terrorist financing;

(b) the respondent's financial position;

(c) whether it is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by a regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency equivalent to the Regulator in each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates;

(d) whether each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates has an effective AML/CFT regime;

Note See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

(e) if the respondent is a subsidiary of another legal person—the following additional matters:

(i) the other person's domicile and location (if different);

(ii) its reputation;

(iii) whether it is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by a regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency equivalent to the Regulator in each jurisdiction in which it operates;

(iv) whether each foreign jurisdiction in which it operates has an effective AML/CFT regime;

(v) its ownership, control and management structure (including whether it is owned, controlled or managed by a politically exposed person).

(3) If the correspondent establishes a correspondent securities relationship with the respondent, the correspondent must—

(a) if the respondent is in a high risk jurisdiction—conduct enhanced ongoing monitoring of the volume and nature of the transactions conducted under the relationship; and

(b) in any case—at least annually review the relationship and the transactions conducted under it.

Note See esp pt 3.5 (Jurisdiction risk).

Part 3.4 Interface risk

Note for pt 3.4

This part relates to the risks posed by the mechanisms through which business relationships with a firm are started or conducted.

Division 3.4.A Interface risks—general

3.4.1 Risk assessment for interface risk

(1) A firm must assess and document the risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the mechanisms through which its business relationships are started and conducted.

(2) The intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring conducted in relation to a particular mechanism must be proportionate to the perceived or potential level of risk posed by the mechanism.

3.4.2 Policies etc for interface risk

(1) A firm must have policies, procedures, systems and controls to address the specific risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the types of mechanisms through which its business relationships are started and conducted.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), the policies, procedures, systems and controls must include measures—

(a) to prevent the misuse of technological developments in money laundering and terrorist financing schemes; and

(b) to manage any specific risks associated with non-face to face business relationships or transactions.

Examples of non-face to face business relationships or transactions

1 business relationships concluded over the Internet or through the post

2 services and transactions provided or conducted over the Internet, using ATMs or by telephone or fax

3 electronic point of sale transactions using prepaid, reloadable or account-linked value cards

Examples of policies, procedures, systems and controls for par (b)

1 requiring third party certification of identification documents presented by or for non-face to face customers

2 requiring additional identification documents for non-face to face customers

3 developing independent contact with non-face to face customers

4 requiring first payments by or for non-face to face customers to be made through accounts in the customers' names with financial institutions subject to similar customer due diligence standards

(3) The policies, procedures, systems and controls must apply in relation to establishing business relationships and conducting ongoing monitoring.

3.4.3 Scoring business relationships—interface risk

A firm must include, in its methodology, a statement of the basis on which business relationships with customers will be scored, having regard to the mechanisms through which its business relationships are started or conducted.

3.4.4 Electronic verification of identification documentation

(1) A firm may rely on electronic verification of identification documentation if it complies with the risk-based approach and other requirements of these rules.

(2) However, the firm must make and keep a record that clearly demonstrates the basis on which it relied on the electronic verification of identification documentation.

3.4.5 Payment processing using on-line services

A financial institution may permit payment processing to take place using on-line services if it ensures that the processing is subject to—

(a) the same monitoring as its other services; and

(b) the same risk-based methodology.

3.4.6 Concession for certain non-face to face transactions

(1) This rule applies if—

(a) a customer of a firm would normally be required to produce evidence of identity before transacting business with the firm involving the making of a payment; and

(b) it is reasonable in all the circumstances for payment to be made by post or electronically, or for details of the payment to be given by telephone; and

(c) payment is to be made from an account held in the customer's name at a financial institution.

(2) However, this rule does not apply if—

(a) initial or future payments can be received from third parties; or

(b) cash withdrawals can be made, unless the withdrawals can only be made by the customer on a face-to-face basis where identity can be confirmed; or

Example of exception

a passbook account where evidence of identity is required to make withdrawals

(c) redemption or withdrawal proceeds can be paid to a third party or to an account that cannot be confirmed as belonging to the customer, unless the proceeds can only be paid to an executor or personal representative on the death of the customer.

(3) If this rule applies, the firm may waive identification requirements for the customer.

(4) However, a repayment may be made to another firm only if the other firm has confirmed that the amount of the repayment is either to be paid to the customer or reinvested elsewhere in the name of the customer.

(5) This rule applies to a joint account as if a reference to the customer included a reference to any of the customers.

Division 3.4.B Reliance on others generally

3.4.7 Activities to which div 3.4.B does not apply

This division does not apply to a firm in relation to customer due diligence measures conducted for the firm—

(a) by a third-party service provider under an outsourcing; or

Note Outsourcing is defined in the glossary.

(b) by an agent under a contractual arrangement between the firm and the agent; or

(c) if the firm is a bank—under a correspondent banking relationship to which the firm is a party; or

(d) under a correspondent securities relationship to which the firm is a party.

Note See the following provisions:

- r 2.1.5 (Compliance by officers, employees, agents etc)

- r 2.1.7 (Application of AML/CFT Law requirements, policies etc to outsourced functions and activities)
- r 3.3.5 (Correspondent banking relationships generally)
- r 3.3.11 (Correspondent securities relationships generally).

3.4.8 Reliance on certain third parties generally

(1) A firm may rely on introducers, intermediaries or other third parties to conduct some elements of customer due diligence measures for a customer, or to introduce business to the firm, if it does so under, and in accordance with, this division.

(2) However, the firm (and, in particular, its senior management) remains responsible for the proper conduct of CDD and ongoing monitoring for its customers.

3.4.9 Introducers

(1) This rule applies in relation to a customer introduced to a firm by a third party (the introducer) if—

(a) the introducer's function in relation to the customer is merely to introduce the customer to the firm; and

(b) the firm is satisfied that the introducer—

(i) is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by the Regulator or by an equivalent regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency in another jurisdiction; and

(ii) is subject to the AML/CFT Law and these rules or to equivalent legislation of another jurisdiction; and

(iii) is based, or incorporated or otherwise established, in Qatar or a foreign jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime; and

(iv) is not subject to a secrecy law or anything else that would prevent the firm from obtaining any information or original documentation about the customer that the firm may need for AML and CFT purposes.

Note 1 See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

Note 2 Another jurisdiction and foreign jurisdiction are defined in the glossary.

(2) The firm may rely on the customer due diligence measures conducted by the introducer for the customer and need not—

(a) conduct CDD itself for the customer; or

(b) obtain any of the original documents obtained by the introducer in conducting CDD for the customer.

(3) However, the firm must not start a business relationship with the customer relying on subrule (2) unless—

(a) it has received from the introducer an introducer's certificate for the customer; and

(b) it has received from the introducer all information about the customer obtained from the CDD conducted by the introducer for the customer that it would need if it had conducted the CDD itself; and

(c) it has, or can immediately obtain from the introducer on request, a copy of every document relating to the customer that it would need if it were conducting CDD itself for the customer.

3.4.10 Group introductions

(1) This rule applies in relation to a customer introduced to a financial institution in Qatar (the local firm) by another financial institution (B) in the same group, whether in or outside Qatar, if—

(a) B or another financial institution in the group (the relevant financial institution) has conducted customer due diligence measures for the customer; and

(b) the local firm is satisfied that all of the following conditions have been met:

(i) the relevant financial institution is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by the Regulator or by an equivalent regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency in another jurisdiction; and

(ii) it is subject to the AML/CFT Law and these rules or to equivalent legislation of another jurisdiction; and

(iii) it is based, or incorporated or otherwise established, in Qatar or a foreign jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime; and

(iv) the local firm has all information about the customer obtained from the CDD conducted by the relevant financial institution for the customer that the firm would need if it had conducted the CDD itself; and

(v) the local firm has, or can immediately obtain from the relevant financial institution on request, a copy of every document relating to the customer that it would need if it were conducting CDD itself for the customer.

Note 1 See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

Note 2 Another jurisdiction and foreign jurisdiction are defined in the glossary.

(2) The local firm may rely on the customer due diligence measures conducted by the relevant financial institution and need not—

(a) conduct CDD itself for the customer; or

(b) obtain any of the original documents obtained by the relevant financial institution in conducting CDD for the customer.

3.4.11 Intermediaries

(1) This rule applies to a firm in relation to a customer of an intermediary, wherever located, if the customer is introduced to the firm by the intermediary.

Example of intermediary

a fund manager who has an active, ongoing business relationship with a customer in relation to the customer's financial affairs and holds funds on the customer's behalf

(2) The firm may treat the intermediary as its customer, and need not conduct customer due diligence measures itself for the intermediary's customer, if the firm is satisfied that all of the following conditions have been met:

(a) the intermediary is a firm;

(b) it is regulated and supervised (at least for AML and CFT purposes) by the Regulator or by an equivalent regulatory or governmental authority, body or agency in another jurisdiction;

(c) it is subject to the AML/CFT Law and these rules or to equivalent legislation of another jurisdiction; and

(d) it is based, or incorporated or otherwise established, in Qatar or a foreign jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime;

(e) the firm has all information about the customer obtained from the CDD conducted by the intermediary for the customer that the firm would need if it had conducted the CDD itself;

(f) the firm has, or can immediately obtain from the intermediary on request, a copy of every document relating to the customer that it would need if it were conducting CDD itself for the customer.

Note 1 See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

Note 2 Another jurisdiction and foreign jurisdiction are defined in the glossary.

(3) If the firm is not satisfied that all of the conditions in subrule (2) have been met, the firm must conduct customer due diligence measures itself for the customer.

Division 3.4.C Third party certification—identification documents

3.4.12 Third party certification of identification documents

(1) A firm must not rely, for customer due diligence measures, on the certification of an identification document by a third party rather than sighting the document itself unless it is reasonable for it to rely on that certification.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), the firm must not rely on the certification of an identification document by a third party unless the third party is an individual approved under subrule (3).

(3) The senior management of the firm may approve an individual under this subrule if the firm's MLRO has certified that the MLRO is satisfied, on the basis of satisfactory documentary evidence, that the individual—

(a) adheres to appropriate ethical or professional standards; and

(b) is readily contactable; and

(c) conducts his or her occupation or profession in Qatar or a foreign jurisdiction with an effective AML/CFT regime.

Note See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

Part 3.5 Jurisdiction risk

Note for pt 3.5

This part relates to the risks posed by the types of jurisdiction with which customers are (or may become) associated.

3.5.1 Risk assessment for jurisdiction risk

(1) A firm must assess and document the risks of involvement in money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the different types of jurisdictions with which its customers are (or may become) associated.

Examples of 'associated' jurisdictions for a customer

1 the jurisdiction where the customer lives or is incorporated or otherwise established

2 each jurisdiction where the customer conducts business or has assets

Note Jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

(2) The intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring conducted for customers associated with a particular jurisdiction must be proportionate to the perceived or potential level of risk posed by the jurisdiction.

Examples of jurisdictions requiring enhanced CDD

1 jurisdictions with ineffective AML/CFT regimes

2 jurisdictions with impaired international cooperation

3 jurisdictions subject to international sanctions

4 jurisdictions with high propensity for corruption

3.5.2 Policies etc for jurisdiction risk

A firm must have policies, procedures, systems and controls to address the specific risks of money laundering, terrorist financing and other illicit activities posed by the types of jurisdictions with which its customers are (or may become) associated.

Examples of 'associated' jurisdiction for a customer

See examples to rule 3.5.1 (1).

3.5.3 Scoring business relationships—types of associated jurisdictions

A firm must include, in its methodology, a statement of the basis on which business relationships with customers will be scored, having regard to the types of jurisdictions with which customers are (or may become) associated.

3.5.4 Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions

(1) This rule applies to a firm in making a decision about whether a jurisdiction has an effective AML/CFT regime.

(2) The firm must consider the following 3 factors in relation to the jurisdiction:

(a) legal framework;

(b) enforcement and supervision;

(c) international cooperation.

(3) In considering these 3 factors, the firm must have regard to the relevant findings about jurisdictions published by international organisations, governments and other bodies.

Example of international organisation

FATF

3.5.5 Jurisdictions with impaired international cooperation

A firm must guard against customers or introductions from jurisdictions where the ability to cooperate internationally is impaired and must, therefore, subject business relationships from these jurisdictions to enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring.

Examples of impairment

failings in the jurisdiction's judicial or administrative arrangements

3.5.6 Non-cooperative, high risk and sanctioned jurisdictions

A firm must conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring in relation to transactions conducted under a business relationship if a source of wealth or funds of the relationship derives from a jurisdiction—

(a) that is identified by FATF as a non-cooperative or high risk country or territory (however described); or

(b) that is subject to international sanctions.

3.5.7 Jurisdictions with high propensity for corruption

(1) A firm must—

(a) assess and document the jurisdictions that are more vulnerable to corruption; and

(b) conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring for customers from high risk jurisdictions whose line of business is more vulnerable to corruption.

Example of line of business more vulnerable to corruption

arms sales

(2) If a firm's policy permits the acceptance of politically exposed persons as customers, the firm must take additional measures to mitigate the additional risk posed by PEPs from jurisdictions with a high propensity for corruption.

Chapter 4 Know your customer

Part 4.1 Know your customer—general

Note for pt 4.1

Principle 3 (see r 1.2.3) requires a firm to know each of its customers to the extent appropriate for the customer's risk profile.

4.1.1 Know your customer principle—general

The know your customer principle requires every firm to know who its customers are, and have the necessary customer identification documentation, data and information to evidence this.

Note Principle 6 (see r 1.2.6) requires a firm to be able to provide documentary evidence of its compliance with the requirements of the AML/CFT Law and these rules.

4.1.2 Overview of CDD requirements

(1) As a general rule, a firm must not establish a business relationship with a customer unless—

(a) all the relevant parties (including any beneficial owner) have been identified and verified; and

(b) the purpose and intended nature of the business expected to be conducted with the customer has been clarified.

(2) Once an ongoing relationship has been established, any regular business undertaken with the customer must be assessed at regular intervals against the expected pattern of activity of the customer. Any unexpected activity can then be examined to decide whether there is a suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing.

(3) If the firm does not obtain satisfactory evidence of identity for all the relevant parties, the firm must not establish the business relationship or carry out a transaction for or with them and must consider making a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

(4) This rule provides a simplified explanation of some of the customer due diligence requirements in this chapter and is subject to the more detailed provisions of this chapter.

4.1.3 Customer identification documents

The application of customer due diligence measures to a customer should result in the firm obtaining a set of documents which are collectively known as the 'customer identification documents'. These documents, which are summarised in figure 4.1.3, form the basis of the firm's knowledge of the customer and should drive the risk-profiling and therefore the intensity of the customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring the firm must conduct for the customer.

Part 4.2 Know your customer—key terms

4.2.1 What are customer due diligence measures?

(1) Customer due diligence measures (or CDD), in relation to a customer of a firm, are all of the following measures:

Note CDD measures may be required to be enhanced (see pt 4.4) or may be permitted to be reduced or simplified (see pt 4.5).

(a) identifying the customer;

(b) verifying the customer's identity using reliable, independent source documents, data or information;

(c) establishing whether the customer is acting on behalf of another person;

(d) if the customer is acting on behalf of another person (A)—the following additional measures:

(i) verifying that the customer is authorised to act on behalf of A;

(ii) identifying A;

(iii) verifying A's identity using reliable, independent source documents, data or information;

(e) if the customer is a legal person or legal arrangement—the following additional measures:

(i) verifying that any person (B) purporting to act on behalf of the customer is authorised to act on behalf of the customer;

(ii) identifying B;

(iii) verifying B's identity using reliable, independent source documents, data or information;

(iv) verifying the legal status of the customer;

(v) taking reasonable measures, on a risk-sensitive basis—

(A) to understand the customer's ownership and control structure; and

(B) to establish the individuals who ultimately own or control the customer, including the individuals who exercise ultimate effective control over the customer;

Note See r 4.3.9 (Extent of CDD—legal persons and arrangements).

(f) establishing whether B is the beneficial owner;

(g) if B is not the beneficial owner (C)—the following additional measures:

(i) identifying C;

(ii) verifying C's identity using reliable, independent source documents, data or information;

(iii) if C is a legal person or legal arrangement—taking the additional measures mentioned in paragraph (e) (iv) and (v) as if it were the customer;

Note Beneficial owner is defined in r 1.3.5.

(h) obtaining information about the sources of the customer's wealth and funds;

(i) obtaining information about the purpose and intended nature of the business relationship.

Note For pars (h) and (i), see generally pt 4.6 (Customer identification documentation). For the extent and detail of the information to be obtained, see esp r 4.6.3 (Risks associated with the economic activity—general), r 4.6.4 (2) (Risks associated with the economic activity—source of wealth and funds) and r 4.6.5 (2) (Risks associated with the economic activity—purpose and intended nature of business relationship).

(2) For subrule (1) (e) (v) (B), examples of the type of measures required are—

(a) if the customer is a company—identifying the individuals with a controlling interest and the individuals who comprise the mind and management of the customer; and

Note See r 4.6.8 (Customer identification documentation—corporations).

(b) if the customer is a trust—identifying the settlor, any protector, the trustee or person exercising effective control over the trust, and the beneficiaries.

Note See r 4.3.9 (Extent of CDD—legal persons and arrangements) and r 4.6.11 (Customer identification documentation—trusts).

4.2.2 What is ongoing monitoring?

Ongoing monitoring, in relation to a customer of a firm, consists of the following:

(a) scrutinising transactions conducted under the business relationship with the customer to ensure that the transactions are consistent with the firm's knowledge of the customer, the customer's business and risk profile, and, where necessary, the source of the customer's wealth and funds;

(b) reviewing the firm's records of the customer to ensure that documents, data and information collected using customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring for the customer are kept up-to-date and relevant.

4.2.3 Who is an applicant for business?

An applicant for business, in relation to a firm, is a person seeking to form a business relationship, or carry out a one-off transaction, with the firm.

Examples of applicants for business

1 A person dealing with a firm on his or her own behalf is an applicant for business for the firm.

2 If a person (A) is acting as agent for a principal (eg as an authorised manager of a discretionary investment service for clients) in dealing with a firm and A deals with the firm in his or her own name on behalf of a client of the principal, A (and not the client) is an applicant for business for the firm.

3 If a person (B) provides funds to a firm and wants an investment purchased with the funds to be registered in the name of another person (eg a grandchild), B (and not the other person) is an applicant for business for the firm.

4 If an intermediary introduces a client to a firm as a potential investor and gives the client's name as the investor, the client (and not the intermediary) is an applicant for business for the firm.

5 If a person seeks advice from, or access to an execution-only dealing service, with a firm in his or her own name and on his or her own behalf, the person is an applicant for business for the firm.

6 If a professional agent introduces a third party to a firm so the third party can be given advice or make an investment in his or her own name, the third party (and not the professional agent) is an applicant for business for the firm.

7 If an individual claiming to represent a company, partnership or other legal person applies to a firm to conduct business on behalf of the legal person, the legal person (and not the individual claiming to represent it) is an applicant for business for the firm.

8 If a company manager or company formation agent (C) introduces a client company to a firm, the client company (and not C) is an applicant for business for the firm.

9 If a trust is introduced to a firm, the settlor of the trust is an applicant for business for the firm.

4.2.4 What is a business relationship?

A business relationship, in relation to a firm, is a business, professional or commercial relationship between the firm and a customer, other than a relationship that is reasonably expected by the firm, when contact is established, to be merely transitory.

4.2.5 What is a one-off transaction?

A one-off transaction, in relation to a firm, is a transaction carried out by the firm for a customer otherwise than in the course of a business relationship with the customer.

Examples

1 a one-off foreign currency transaction

2 an isolated instruction to purchase shares

Part 4.3 Customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring

4.3.1 Firm to assess applicants for business

A firm must decide, from the outset of its dealings with an applicant for business, whether the person is seeking to establish a business relationship with the firm or is an occasional customer seeking to carry out a one-off transaction.

Note See the following provisions that are relevant to this rule:

- r 4.2.3 (Who is an applicant for business?)
- r 4.2.4 (What is a business relationship?)
- r 4.2.5 (What is a one-off transaction?).

4.3.2 When CDD required—basic requirement

(1) A firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for a customer when—

(a) it establishes a business relationship with the customer; or

(b) it conducts a one-off transaction for the customer with a value (or, for transactions that are or appear (whether at the time or later) to be linked, with a total value) of at least the threshold amount; or

(c) it suspects the customer of money laundering or terrorist financing; or

(d) it has doubts about the veracity or adequacy of documents, data or information previously obtained in relation to the customer for the purposes of identification or verification.

Note CDD must also be conducted under r 3.3.8 (Powers of attorney) and r 3.3.10 (Wire transfers).

(2) In this rule:

threshold amount means 55,000 Riyals (or its equivalent in any other currency at the relevant time).

(3) This rule is subject to the following provisions:

- rule 3.4.9 (Introducers)
- rule 3.4.10 (Group introductions)
- rule 3.4.11 (Intermediaries)
- rule 4.3.4 (When CDD may not be required—acquired businesses)
- rule 5.2.2 (2) (Firm must ensure no tipping off occurs).

4.3.3 Firm unable to complete CDD for customer

(1) This rule applies if a firm cannot complete customer due diligence measures for a customer.

Examples

1 the firm is unable to verify the customer's identity using reliable, independent source, data or information

2 the customer exercises cancellation or cooling-off rights

(2) The firm must—

(a) immediately terminate any relationship with the customer; and

(b) consider whether it should make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

4.3.4 When CDD may not be required—acquired businesses

(1) This rule applies if a firm acquires the business of another firm, either in whole or as a product portfolio (for example, the mortgage book).

(2) The firm is not required to conduct customer due diligence measures for all customers acquired with the business if—

(a) all customer account records are acquired with the business; and

(b) due diligence inquiries before the acquisition did not give rise to doubt that the AML/CFT procedures followed for the business were being conducted in accordance the AML/CFT Law and these rules or the law of another jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime.

Note See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

(3) However, if the AML/CFT procedures followed by the acquired business were not conducted (or it is not possible to establish whether they were conducted) in accordance with the AML/CFT Law and these rules or the law of another jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime, the firm's senior management must prepare or approve, and document, an action plan that ensures that the firm conducts customer due diligence measures for all of the customers acquired with the business as soon as possible.

Note Senior management is defined in the glossary.

(4) Also, if subrule (3) does not apply, but full customer records are not available to the firm for all of the customers acquired with the business, the firm's senior management must prepare or approve, and document, an action plan that ensures that the firm conducts customer due diligence measures for all of the customers for whom full customer records are not available to the firm as soon as possible.

4.3.5 Timing of CDD—establishment of business relationship

(1) A firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for a customer before it establishes a business relationship with the customer.

(2) However, the customer due diligence measures may be conducted during the establishment of the relationship if—

(a) this is necessary in order not to interrupt the normal conduct of business; and

Examples of where it may be necessary in order not to interrupt the normal conduct of business

1 non-face to face business

2 securities transactions

(b) there is little risk of money laundering or terrorist financing and these risks are effectively managed; and

Examples of measures to effectively manage risks

1 limiting the number, types and amount of transactions that may be conducted during the establishment of the relationship

2 monitoring large or complex transactions being carried out outside the expected norms for the relationship

(c) they are completed as soon as practicable after contact is first established with the customer.

(3) Also, customer due diligence measures may be conducted for the beneficiary under a life insurance contract after the business relationship has been established if they are conducted at or before—

(a) the time of payout; or

(b) the time the beneficiary exercises a right vested under the contract.

(4) In addition, customer due diligence measures for a bank account holder may be conducted after the account has been opened if there are adequate safeguards in place to ensure that—

(a) the account is not closed before they are completed; and

(b) no payments are made from the account, and no other transactions are carried out by or on behalf of the account holder, before they are completed.

(5) If the firm establishes a business relationship with the customer under subrule (2), (3) or (4) but cannot complete customer due diligence measures for the customer, the firm must—

(a) immediately terminate any relationship with the customer; and

(b) consider whether it should make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

(6) Subrule (5) (b) does not apply if the firm—

(a) is a lawyer, notary, other legal professional, accountant, auditor, tax consultant or insolvency practitioner; and

(b) is—

(i) providing legal advice to the client; or

(ii) defending or representing the client in, or concerning, legal proceedings, including providing advice on instituting or avoiding legal proceedings.

4.3.6 Timing of CDD—one-off transactions

(1) A firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for a customer before it conducts a one-off transaction for the customer.

Note See pt 4.5 (Reduced or simplified CDD).

(2) If the firm cannot complete customer due diligence measures for the customer, the firm must—

(a) immediately terminate any relationship with the customer; and

(b) consider whether it should make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

(3) Subrule (2) (b) does not apply if the firm—

(a) is a lawyer, notary, other legal professional, accountant, auditor, tax consultant or insolvency practitioner; and

(b) is—

(i) providing legal advice to the client; or

(ii) defending or representing the client in, or concerning, legal proceedings, including providing advice on instituting or avoiding legal proceedings.

4.3.7 When CDD required—additional requirement for existing customers

(1) A firm must also conduct customer due diligence measures for existing customers at other appropriate times on a risk-sensitive basis.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), a firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for an existing customer if there is a material change in the nature or ownership of the customer.

(3) Without limiting subrule (2), a firm must decide whether to conduct customer due diligence measures for a customer if—

(a) the firm's customer documentation standards change substantially; or

(b) there is a material change in the way an account is operated or in any other aspect of the business relationship with the customer; or

(c) a significant transaction with or for the customer is about to take place; or

(d) the firm becomes aware that it lacks sufficient information about the customer.

Note See r 3.3.4 (Products with fictitious or false names or no names).

4.3.8 Extent of CDD—general requirement

(1) A firm must—

(a) decide, consistently with these rules, the extent of customer due diligence measures for a customer on a risk-sensitive basis depending on, among other factors, the customer risk, the product risk, the interface risk and the jurisdiction risk; and

Note See ch 3 (The risk-based approach) and also esp pt 4.4 (Enhanced CDD and ongoing monitoring) and pt 4.5 (Reduced or simplified CDD).

(b) be able to demonstrate to the Regulator that the extent of the measures is appropriate in view of the risks of money laundering and terrorist financing.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), a firm must conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures for a customer if, for example, the business relationship of the customer is assessed as carrying a higher money laundering or terrorist financing risk.

4.3.9 Extent of CDD—legal persons and arrangements

(1) This rule applies if a firm is required to conduct customer due diligence measures for a legal person (other than a corporation) or a legal arrangement.

(2) If the firm identifies the class of persons in whose main interest the legal person or legal arrangement is established or operated as a beneficial owner, the firm is not required to identify all the members of the class.

(3) However, if the customer due diligence measures are required to be conducted for a trust and the beneficiaries and their contributions have already been decided, the firm must identify each beneficiary who is to receive at least 25% of the funds of the trust (by value).

Note See also r 4.6.11 (Customer identification documentation—trusts).

4.3.9A CDD for beneficiaries of life insurance policies

(1) A financial institution must conduct the following CDD measures on each beneficiary of a life insurance policy or other investment-related insurance policy as soon as the beneficiary is identified or designated:

(a) recording the beneficiary's name (for a beneficiary identified (whether a natural or legal person or a legal arrangement));

(b) obtaining enough information about the beneficiary to satisfy the financial institution that it will be able to establish the identity of the beneficiary at the time of the payout (for a beneficiary designated by characteristics or class (for example, spouse or children at the time that the insured event occurs) or by some other means (for example, under a will)).

(2) The institution must verify the identity of each beneficiary at the time of the payout.

Guidance

1 A financial institution should regard the beneficiary of a life insurance policy as a relevant risk factor in deciding whether enhanced CDD measures are applicable. If the financial institution decides that a beneficiary who is a legal person or a legal arrangement presents a higher risk, the enhanced CDD measures should include reasonable measures to identify, and verify the identity of, the beneficiary's beneficial owner at the time of payout.

2 If a financial institution is unable to comply with rule 4.3.9A, it should consider making a suspicious transaction report.

4.3.10 Ongoing monitoring required

(1) A firm must conduct ongoing monitoring for each customer.

Note See r 4.2.2 (What is ongoing monitoring?).

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), the firm must pay special attention to all complex, unusual large transactions, or unusual patterns of transactions, that have no apparent or visible economic or lawful purpose.

Examples

1 significant transactions relative to the business relationship with the customer

2 transactions that exceed set limits

3 very high turnover inconsistent with the size of the balance

4 transactions that fall outside the regular pattern of an account's activity

(3) The firm must examine as far as possible the background and purpose of a transaction mentioned in subrule (2) and make a record of its findings.

(4) A record made for subrule (2) must be kept for at least 6 years after the day it is made or, if any other provision of these rules requires the record to be kept for a longer period, for the longer period.

(5) This rule is subject to rule 5.2.2 (2) (Firm must ensure no tipping off occurs).

(6) In this rule:

transaction, in relation to insurance business, means the insurance product itself, the premium payment and the benefits.

4.3.11 Procedures for ongoing monitoring

(1) A firm must have policies, procedures, systems and controls for ongoing monitoring for its customers.

(2) The systems and controls must—

(a) flag transactions for further examination; and

(b) provide—

(i) for the prompt further examination of these transactions by a senior independent person; and

(ii) for appropriate action to be taken on the findings of the further examination; and

(iii) if there is knowledge or suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing raised by the findings—for a report to be made promptly to the firm's MLRO.

Note See r 5.1.4 (Obligation of officer or employee to report to MLRO etc).

(3) The monitoring provided by the systems and controls may be—

(a) in real time, that is, transactions are reviewed as they take place or are about to take place; or

(b) after the event, that is, transactions are reviewed after they have taken place.

(4) The monitoring may be, for example—

(a) by reference to particular types of transactions or the customer's risk profile; or

(b) by comparing the transactions of the customer, or the customer's risk profile, with those of customers in a similar peer group; or

(c) through a combination of those approaches.

4.3.12 Linked one-off transactions

(1) A firm must have systems and controls to identify one-off transactions that are linked to the same person.

Note See r 4.2.5 (What is a one-off transaction?).

(2) If a firm knows, suspects, or has reasonable grounds to know or suspect, that a series of linked one-off transactions involves money laundering or terrorist financing, the firm must make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

Part 4.4 Enhanced CDD and ongoing monitoring

4.4.1 Enhanced CDD and ongoing monitoring—general

A firm must, on a risk-sensitive basis, conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring—

(a) in cases where it is required to do so under the AML/CFT Law or other provisions of these rules; or

(b) in any other situation that by its nature can present a higher risk of money laundering or terrorist financing.

Note Enhanced customer due diligence measures or enhanced ongoing monitoring is required under the following provisions of these rules:

- r 2.1.3 (2) (b) (Matters to be covered by policies etc)
- r 3.2.4 (Persons associated with terrorist acts etc—enhanced CDD and ongoing monitoring)
- r 3.2.5 (c) and (f) (Measures for politically exposed persons)
- r 3.3.5 (3) (a) (Correspondent banking relationships generally)
- r 3.3.9 (3) (Bearer shares and share warrants to bearer)
- r 3.3.11 (3) (a) (Correspondent securities relationships generally)
- r 3.5.1 (2) examples (Risk assessment for jurisdiction risk)
- r 3.5.5 (Jurisdictions with impaired international cooperation)
- r 3.5.6 (Non-cooperative, high risk and sanctioned jurisdictions)
- r 3.5.7 (1) (b) (Jurisdictions with high propensity for corruption)
- r 4.3.8 (2) (Extent of CDD—general requirement)
- r 4.6.11 (5) (Customer identification documentation—trusts).

Part 4.5 Reduced or simplified CDD

4.5.1 Reduced or simplified CDD—general

(1) A firm may conduct reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures for a customer in cases where it is permitted to do so under a provision of this part when—

(a) it establishes a business relationship with the customer; or

(b) it conducts a one-off transaction for the customer to which rule 4.3.2 (1) (b) applies (When CDD required—basic requirement).

Note Reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures are permitted only under the following provisions of this part.

(2) However, reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures must not be conducted under this part if there is a suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing.

4.5.2 Reduced or simplified CDD—financial institution customer

A firm may conduct reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures for a customer if the customer is—

(a) a financial institution that is based, or incorporated or otherwise established, in Qatar and that is acting on its own behalf; or

(b) a financial institution that—

(i) is based, or incorporated or otherwise established, in a foreign jurisdiction that imposes requirements similar to those of the AML/CFT Law and these rules; and

(ii) is supervised for compliance with those requirements; and

(iii) is acting on its own behalf.

Note Foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

4.5.3 Reduced or simplified CDD—listed, regulated public companies

A firm may conduct reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures for a customer if the customer is a public company whose securities are listed on a regulated financial market that subjects public companies to disclosure obligations consistent with international standards of disclosure.

4.5.4 Reduced or simplified CDD—certain life insurance contracts

A firm may conduct reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures for a customer in relation to a life insurance contract if—

(a) either—

(i) the annual premium is not more than 3,000 Riyals (or its equivalent in any other currency at the relevant time); or

(ii) if there is a single premium—the premium is not more than 7,500 Riyals (or its equivalent in any other currency at the relevant time); and

(b) the contract is in writing; and

(c) the beneficiary is not anonymous; and

(d) the nature of the contract allows for the timely application of customer due diligence measures if there is a suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing; and

(e) the benefits of the contract or a related transaction cannot be realised for the benefit of third parties, except on death or survival to a predetermined advanced age, or similar events.

4.5.5 Reduced or simplified CDD—certain pooled accounts

A firm may conduct reduced or simplified customer due diligence measures for a customer that is an independent legal professional in relation to an account in which money is pooled if—

(a) the account is held in Qatar or a foreign jurisdiction that has an effective AML/CFT regime; and

(b) if the account is held in a foreign jurisdiction—the customer is supervised in that jurisdiction for compliance with AML/CFT requirements; and

(c) information about the identity of the persons on whose behalf money is held in the account is available, on request, to the firm.

Note 1 See r 3.5.4 (Decisions about effectiveness of AML/CFT regimes in other jurisdictions).

Note 2 Foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

Part 4.6 Customer identification documentation

Division 4.6.A Customer identification documentation—general

4.6.1 Elements of customer identification documentation

Customer identification documentation relates to 2 distinct elements, namely—

(a) the customer; and

(b) the nature of the customer's economic activity.

Note See esp pt 3.2 (Customer risk), pt 3.5 (Jurisdiction risk) and r 4.1.3 (Customer identification documents).

4.6.2 Records of customer identification documentation etc

(1) A firm must make and keep a record of all the customer identification documentation that it obtains in conducting customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring for a customer.

(2) Without limiting subrule (1), a firm must make and keep a record of how and when each of the steps of the customer due diligence measures for a customer were satisfactorily completed by the firm.

(3) This rule applies in relation to a customer irrespective of the nature and risk profile of the customer.

Division 4.6.B Customer identification documentation—the economic activity

4.6.3 Risks associated with the economic activity—general

(1) A firm must take into account that the risks associated with money laundering and the financing of terrorism arise from the fact that either—

(a) the funds that are going to be put through a business relationship derive from criminal activity and the business relationship will be used to channel these funds; or

(b) proceeds of criminal activity will be mixed with legitimate economic activity to disguise their origin.

(2) A firm must properly address these risks using the following approach:

(a) identify the sources of the customer's wealth and funds;

Note By establishing that the sources are not from criminal activity, the firm substantially mitigates the customer risk.

(b) identify the purpose and intended nature of the business relationship.

Note By establishing this, the firm can adequately monitor transactions conducted under the business relationship and assess how these correspond to transactions intended to be conducted under the relationship. In the assessment of where these differ, the firm can better work out whether money laundering or terrorist financing is taking place.

4.6.4 Risks associated with the economic activity—source of wealth and funds

(1) In conducting customer due diligence measures for an applicant for business who is seeking to establish a business relationship, a firm must obtain, and document, information on the source of the applicant's wealth and funds.

Note Information obtained can assist the firm in establishing the money laundering and terrorist financing risks posed by both the customer risk as well as the jurisdiction risk. In certain cases the product risk will also be affected by establishing the source of the wealth and funds.

(2) The firm must obtain, and document, the information to an appropriate level having regard to the applicant's risk profile and document this information.

(3) If the applicant's risk profile is not low risk, the firm must verify the source of the applicant's wealth and funds using reliable, independent source documents, data or information, and document this verification.

(4) Information documented under this rule forms part of the firm's customer identification documentation.

4.6.5 Risks associated with the economic activity—purpose and intended nature of business relationship

(1) In conducting customer due diligence measures for an applicant for business who is seeking to establish a business relationship, a firm must obtain, and document, information about the purpose and intended nature of the business relationship.

(2) The extent and detail of this information must be sufficient to allow the firm—

(a) to readily identify variances between the actual transactions conducted under the relationship and the stated purpose and intended nature of the relationship; and

(b) to increase information requirements to satisfy itself that money laundering or financing of terrorism has not taken place; and

(c) if it is not satisfied about the information received—to consider making a suspicious transaction report to the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

(3) Information documented under this rule forms part of the firm's customer identification documentation.

Division 4.6.C Customer identification documentation—particular applicants for business

4.6.6 Customer identification documentation—individuals

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is an individual.

(2) If the individual's risk profile is low risk, the firm may satisfy the customer identification documentation requirements by confirming the individual's name and likeness by sighting—

(a) an official government issued document that has the individual's name and a photograph of the individual; or

Examples

1 a valid Qatari ID card

2 a valid passport

3 a valid driving licence with a photograph

(b) a document from a reliable, independent source that bears the individual's name and a photograph of the individual; or

(c) other documents from reliable, independent data sources.

4.6.7 Customer identification documentation—multiple individual applicants

(1) This rule applies if 2 or more individuals are joint applicants for business for a firm.

(2) The identities of all of them must be verified in accordance with these rules.

4.6.8 Customer identification documentation—corporations

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is a corporation.

(2) If the corporation's risk profile is low risk, the firm may, subject to subrule (3), satisfy the customer documentation identification requirements by—

(a) either—

(i) obtaining a copy of the certificate of incorporation or trade (or an equivalent document), which includes—

(A) the corporation's full name; and

(B) the corporation's registered number; or

(ii) performing a search in the jurisdiction of incorporation and confirming all the matters that would be confirmed by a certificate (or equivalent document) mentioned in subparagraph (i); and

(b) confirming the corporation's registered office business address; and

(c) obtaining a copy of the corporation's latest available report and audited accounts; and

(d) obtaining a copy of the board resolution authorising—

(i) the establishing of the relationship with the firm; and

(ii) persons to act on its behalf in relation to the relationship, including by operating any accounts.

(3) If the corporation has a multi-layered ownership or control structure, the firm must—

(a) obtain an understanding of the corporation's ownership and control at each level of the structure using reliable, independent source documents, data or information; and

(b) document its understanding of the corporation's ownership and control at each level of the structure.

(4) Without limiting subrule (3), if the corporation has a multi-layered ownership or control structure, the customer identification requirements for each intermediate legal person must include reliable, independent source documents, data or information verifying—

(a) the legal person's existence; and

(b) its registered shareholdings and management.

Example

If corporation applicant for business (A) is a subsidiary of another corporation (B) that is in turn a subsidiary of a third corporation (C), the firm must comply with subrule (3) and (4) in relation to B as well as C.

(5) The firm must conduct additional customer due diligence if the corporation—

(a) is incorporated in a foreign jurisdiction; or

(b) has no direct business links to Qatar.

Note Foreign jurisdiction is defined in the glossary.

4.6.9 Customer identification documentation—unincorporated partnerships and associations

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is an unincorporated partnership, or an association that conducts business, (the applicant).

(2) If applicant's partners or directors are not known to the firm, the identity of all of the partners or directors must be verified using reliable, independent source documents, data or information.

(3) If the applicant is a partnership with a formal partnership agreement, the firm must obtain a mandate from the partnership authorising—

(a) the establishing of the relationship with the firm; and

(b) persons to act on behalf of the partnership in relation to the relationship, including by operating any accounts.

4.6.10 Customer identification documentation—charities

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is a charity.

(2) The firm must conduct customer due diligence measures for the charity according to its legal form.

Examples of legal forms of charities

1 company limited by shares
2 trust
3 unincorporated association

4.6.11 Customer identification documentation—trusts

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is a trust.

(2) In conducting a risk assessment for the trust, the firm must take into account the different money laundering and terrorist financing risks that are posed by trusts of different sizes and areas of activity.

Examples

Some trusts have a limited purpose (eg inheritance tax planning) or have a limited range of activities. Other trusts have more extensive activities and connections including financial links with other jurisdictions.

(3) Subrule (2) does not limit the matters the firm may take into account.

(4) If the trust's risk profile is low risk, the firm must, as a minimum, obtain the following information about the trust:

(a) the trust's full name;

(b) the nature and purpose of the trust;

Examples of the nature of trusts discretionary, testamentary, bare

(c) the jurisdiction where the trust was established;

(d) the identity of the settlor;

(e) the identity of each trustee;

(f) the identity of any protector;

(g) if the beneficiaries and their distributions have already been decided—the identity of each beneficiary who is to receive at least 25% of the funds of the trust (by value);

(h) if the beneficiaries or their distributions have not already been decided—the class of persons in whose main interest the trust is established or operated as beneficial owner.

(5) If the trust's risk profile is higher risk, the firm must conduct enhanced customer due diligence measures for the trust.

4.6.12 Customer identification documentation—clubs and societies

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is a club or society (the applicant).

(2) In conducting a risk assessment for the applicant, the firm must take into account the different money laundering and terrorist financing risks that are posed by clubs and societies of different types and areas of activity.

(3) Subrule (2) does not limit the matters the firm may take into account.

(4) If the applicant's risk profile is low risk, the firm must, as a minimum, obtain the following information about the applicant:

(a) the applicant's full name;

(b) the applicant's legal status;

(c) the applicant's purpose, including any constitution;

(d) the names of all of the applicant's officers.

(5) The firm must also verify the identities of the applicant's officers who have authority—

(a) to establish a relationship with the firm on the applicant's behalf; or

(b) to act on behalf of the applicant for the relationship, including by operating any account or by giving instructions about the use, transfer or disposal of any of the applicant's assets.

4.6.13 Customer identification documentation—governmental bodies

(1) This rule applies if an applicant for business for a firm is a multi-jurisdictional entity, a government department or local authority (the applicant).

(2) The firm must, as a minimum, obtain the following information about the applicant:

(a) the applicant's legal status;

(b) the applicant's ownership and control, as appropriate;

(b) to act on behalf of the applicant for the relationship, including by operating any account or by giving instructions about the use, transfer or disposal of any of the applicant's assets.

Chapter 5 Reporting and tipping off

Part 5.1 Reporting requirements

Note for pt 5.1

Principle 4 (see r 1.2.4) requires a firm to have effective measures in place to ensure there is internal and external reporting whenever money laundering or terrorist financing is known or suspected.

Division 5.1.A Reporting requirements—general

5.1.1 Unusual and inconsistent transactions

(1) A transaction that is unusual or inconsistent with a customer's known legitimate business and risk profile does not of itself make it suspicious.

Note 1 The key to recognising unusual or inconsistent transactions is for a firm to know its customers well enough under ch 4 (Know your customer).

Note 2 A firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls must provide for the identification and scrutiny of certain transactions (see r 2.1.3 (2) (a)).

(2) A firm must consider the following matters in deciding whether an unusual or inconsistent transaction is a suspicious transaction:

(a) whether the transaction has no apparent or visible economic or lawful purpose;

(b) whether the transaction has no reasonable explanation;

(c) whether the size or pattern of the transaction is out of line with any earlier pattern or the size or pattern of transactions of similar customers;

(d) whether the customer has failed to give an adequate explanation for the transaction or to fully provide information about it;

(e) whether the transaction involves the use of a newly established business relationship or is for a one-off transaction;

(f) whether the transaction involves the use of offshore accounts, companies or structures that are not supported by the customer's economic needs;

(g) whether the transaction involves the unnecessary routing of funds through third parties.

(3) Subrule (2) does not limit the matters that the firm may consider.

Division 5.1.B Internal reporting

5.1.2 Internal reporting policies etc

(1) A firm must have clear and effective policies, procedures, systems and controls for the internal reporting of all known or suspected instances of money laundering or terrorist financing.

(2) The policies, procedures, systems and controls must enable the firm to comply with the AML/CFT Law and these rules in relation to the prompt making of internal suspicious transaction reports to the firm's MLRO.

5.1.3 Access to MLRO

A firm must ensure that all its officers and employees have direct access to the firm's MLRO and that the reporting lines between them and the MLRO are as short as possible.

Note The MLRO is responsible for receiving, investigating and assessing internal suspicious transaction reports for the firm (see r 2.3.4 (a))

5.1.4 Obligation of officer or employee to report to MLRO etc

(1) This rule applies to an officer or employee of a firm if, in the course of his or her office or employment, the officer or employee knows, suspects, or has reasonable grounds to know or suspect, that funds are—

(a) the proceeds of criminal conduct; or

(b) related to terrorist financing; or

(c) linked or related to, or are to be used for, terrorism, terrorist acts or by terrorist organisations.

Note Funds, proceeds of criminal conduct, terrorist financing, terrorist act and terrorist organisation are defined in the glossary.

(2) The officer or employee must promptly make a suspicious transaction report to the firm's MLRO.

Note See r 5.1.2 (2) for relevant matters to be included in the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls.

(3) The officer or employee must make the report—

(a) irrespective of the amount of any transaction relating to the funds; and

(b) whether or not any transaction relating to the funds involves tax matters; and

(c) even though—

(i) no transaction has been, or will be, conducted by the firm in relation to the funds; and

(ii) for an applicant for business—no business relationship has been, or will be, entered into by the firm with the applicant; and

(iii) for a customer—the firm has terminated any relationship with the customer; and

(iv) any attempted money laundering or terrorist financing activity in relation to the funds has failed for any other reason.

(4) If the officer or employee makes a suspicious transaction report to the MLRO (the internal report) in relation to the applicant for business or customer, the officer or employee must promptly give the MLRO details of every subsequent transaction of the applicant or customer (whether or not of the same nature as the transaction that gave rise to the internal report) until the MLRO tells the officer or employee not to do so.

Note An officer or employee who fails to make a report under this rule—

(a) may commit an offence against the AML/CFT Law; and

(b) may also be dealt with under the Financial Services Regulations, pt 9 (Disciplinary and enforcement powers).

5.1.5 Obligations of MLRO on receipt of internal report

(1) If the MLRO of a firm receives a suspicious transaction report (whether under this division or otherwise), the MLRO must promptly—

(a) if the firm's policies, procedures, systems and controls allow an initial report to be made orally and the initial report is made orally—properly document the report; and

(b) give the individual making the report a written acknowledgment for the report, together with a reminder about the provisions of part 5.2 (Tipping off); and

(c) consider the report in light of all other relevant information held by the firm about the applicant for business, customer or transaction to which the report relates; and

(d) decide whether the transaction is suspicious; and

Note See r 5.1.7 (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc).

(e) give written notice of the decision to the individual who made the report.

(2) A reference in this rule to the MLRO includes a reference to a person acting under rule 5.1.7 (3) (b) (Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc) in relation to the making of a report on the firm's behalf.

Note Under r 2.3.5 the deputy MLRO acts as the MLRO during absences of the MLRO and whenever there is a vacancy in the MLRO's position.

Division 5.1.C External reporting

5.1.6 External reporting policies etc

(1) A firm must have clear and effective policies, procedures, systems and controls for reporting to the FIU all known or suspected instances of money laundering or terrorist financing.

(2) The policies, procedures, systems and controls must enable the firm—

(a) to comply with the AML/CFT Law and these rules in relation to the prompt making of suspicious transaction reports to the FIU; and

(b) to cooperate effectively with the FIU and law enforcement agencies in relation to suspicious transaction reports made to the FIU.

5.1.7 Obligation of firm to report to FIU etc

(1) This rule applies to a firm if the firm knows, suspects, or has reasonable grounds to know or suspect, that funds are—

(a) the proceeds of criminal conduct; or

(b) related to terrorist financing; or

(c) linked or related to, or are to be used for, terrorism, terrorist acts or by terrorist organisations.

Note Funds, proceeds of criminal conduct, terrorist financing, terrorist act and terrorist organisation are defined in the glossary.

(2) The firm must promptly make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU and ensure that any proposed transaction relating to the report does not proceed without consulting with the FIU.

Note See r 5.1.6 (2) for relevant matters to be included in the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls.

(3) The report must be made on the firm's behalf by—

(a) the MLRO; or

(b) if the report cannot be made by the MLRO (or deputy MLRO) for any reason—by a person who is employed (as described in rule 2.3.2 (1) (a)) at the management level by the firm, or by a legal person in the same group, and who has sufficient seniority, experience and authority to investigate and assess internal suspicious transaction reports.

Note Under r 2.3.5 the deputy MLRO acts as the MLRO during absences of the MLRO and whenever there is a vacancy in the MLRO's position.

(4) The firm must make the report—

(a) whether or not an internal suspicious transaction report has been made under division 5.1B (Internal reporting) in relation to the funds; and

(b) irrespective of the amount of any transaction relating to the funds; and

(c) whether or not any transaction relating to the funds involves tax matters; and

(d) even though—

(i) no transaction has been, or will be, conducted by the firm in relation to the funds; and

(ii) for an applicant for business—no business relationship has been, or will be, entered into by the firm with the applicant; and

(iii) for a customer—the firm has terminated any relationship with the customer; and

(iv) any attempted money laundering or terrorist financing activity in relation to the funds has failed for any other reason.

(5) The report must include a statement about—

(a) the facts or circumstances on which the firm's knowledge or suspicion is based or the grounds for the firm's knowledge or suspicion; and

(b) if the firm knows or suspects that the funds belong to a third person—the facts or circumstances on which that knowledge or suspicion is based or the grounds for the firm's knowledge or suspicion.

Note A firm that fails to make a report under this rule—

(a) may commit an offence against the AML/CFT Law; and

(b) may also be dealt with under the Financial Services Regulations, pt 9 (Disciplinary and enforcement powers).

(6) If a firm makes a report to the FIU under this rule about a proposed transaction, it must immediately tell the Regulator that it has made a report to the FIU under this rule.

5.1.8 Obligation not to destroy records relating to customer under investigation etc

(1) This rule applies if—

(a) a firm makes a suspicious transaction report to the FIU in relation to an applicant for business or a customer; or

(b) the firm knows that an applicant for business or customer is under investigation by a law enforcement agency in relation to money laundering or terrorist financing.

(2) The firm must not destroy any records relating to the applicant for business or customer without consulting with the FIU.

5.1.9 Firm may restrict or terminate business relationship

(1) This division does not prevent a firm from restricting or terminating, for normal commercial reasons, its business relationship with a customer after the firm makes a suspicious transaction report about the customer to the FIU.

(2) However—

(a) before restricting or terminating the business relationship, the firm must consult with the FIU; and

(b) the firm must ensure that restricting or terminating the business relationship does not inadvertently result in tipping off the customer.

Note Tipping off is defined in r 5.2.1.

Division 5.1.D Reporting records

5.1.10 Reporting records to be made by MLRO etc

The MLRO of a firm must make and keep records—

(a) showing the details of each internal suspicious transaction report the MLRO receives; and

(b) necessary to demonstrate how rule 5.1.5 (Obligations of MLRO on receipt of internal report) was complied with in relation to each internal suspicious transaction report; and

(c) showing the details of each suspicious transaction report made to the FIU by the firm.

Part 5.2 Tipping off

5.2.1 What is tipping off?

Tipping off, in relation to an applicant for business or a customer of a firm, is the unauthorised act of disclosing information that—

(a) may result in the applicant or customer, or a third party (other than the FIU or the Regulator), knowing or suspecting that the applicant or customer is or may be the subject of—

(i) a suspicious transaction report; or

(ii) an investigation relating to money laundering or terrorist financing; and

(b) may prejudice the prevention or detection of offences, the apprehension or prosecution of offenders, the recovery of proceeds of crime, or the prevention of money laundering or terrorist financing.

5.2.2 Firm must ensure no tipping off occurs

(1) A firm must ensure that—

(a) its officers and employees are aware of, and sensitive to—

(i) the issues surrounding tipping off; and

(ii) the consequences of tipping off; and

(b) it has policies, procedures, systems and controls to prevent tipping off.

(2) If a firm believes, on reasonable grounds, that an applicant for business or a customer may be tipped off by conducting customer due diligence measures or ongoing monitoring, the firm may make a suspicious transaction report to the FIU instead of conducting the measures or monitoring.

(3) If the firm acts under subrule (2), the MLRO must make and keep records to demonstrate the grounds for the belief that conducting customer due diligence measures or ongoing monitoring would have tipped off an applicant for business or a customer.

5.2.3 Information relating to suspicious transaction reports to be safeguarded

(1) A firm must take all reasonable measures to ensure that information relating to suspicious transaction reports is safeguarded and, in particular, that information relating to a suspicious transaction report is not disclosed to any person (other than a member of the firm's senior management) without the consent of the firm's MLRO.

(2) The MLRO must not consent to information relating to a suspicious transaction report being disclosed to a person unless the MLRO is satisfied that disclosing the information to the person would not constitute tipping off.

(3) If the MLRO gives consent, the MLRO must make and keep records to demonstrate how the MLRO was satisfied that disclosing the information to the person would not constitute tipping off.

Chapter 6 Screening and training requirements

Part 6.1 Screening procedures

Note for pt 6.1

Principle 5 (see r 1.2.5 (a)) requires a firm to have adequate screening procedures to ensure high standards when appointing or employing officers and employees.

6.1.1 Screening procedures—particular requirements

(1) In this rule:

higher-impact individual, in relation to a firm, means an individual who has a role in preventing money laundering or terrorist financing under the firm's AML/CFT programme.

Examples

1 a senior manager of the firm

2 the firm's MLRO or deputy MLRO

3 an individual who exercises any other controlled function for the firm

4 an individual whose role in the firm includes conducting any other activity with or for a customer

Note The firm's AML/CFT programme must include internal policies, procedures, systems and controls to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing and screening procedures (see r 2.1.1 (3) (a) and (b)).

(2) A firm's screening procedures for the appointment or employment of officers and employees must ensure that an individual is not appointed or employed unless—

(a) for a higher-impact individual—the firm is satisfied that the individual has the appropriate character, knowledge, skills and abilities to act honestly, reasonably and independently; or

(b) for any other individual—the firm is satisfied about the individual's integrity.

(3) The procedures must, as a minimum, provide that, before appointing or employing a higher-impact individual, the firm must—

(a) obtain references about the individual; and

Part 6.2 AML/CFT training programme

Note for pt 6.2

Principle 5 (see r 1.2.5 (b)) also requires a firm to have an appropriate ongoing AML/CFT training programme for its officers and employees.

6.2.1 Appropriate AML/CFT training programme to be delivered etc

(1) A firm must identify, design, deliver and maintain an appropriate ongoing AML/CFT training programme for its officers and employees.

(2) The programme must ensure that the firm's officers and employees are aware, and have an appropriate understanding, of the following:

(a) their legal and regulatory responsibilities and obligations, particularly those under the AML/CFT Law and these rules;

(b) their role in preventing money laundering and terrorist financing, and the liability that they, and the firm, may incur for—

(i) involvement in money laundering or terrorist financing; and

(ii) failure to comply with the AML/CFT Law and these rules;

(c) how the firm is managing money laundering and terrorist financing risks, how risk management techniques are being applied by the firm, the roles of the MLRO and deputy MLRO, and the importance of customer due diligence measures and ongoing monitoring;

(d) money laundering and terrorist financing threats, techniques, methods and trends, the vulnerabilities of the products offered by the firm, and how to recognise suspicious transactions;

(e) the firm's processes for making internal suspicious transaction reports, including how to make effective and efficient reports to the MLRO whenever money laundering or terrorist financing is known or suspected.

(3) The training must enable the firm's officers and employees to seek and assess the information that is necessary for them to decide whether a transaction is suspicious.

(4) In making a decision about what is appropriate training for its officers and employees, the firm must consider the following:

(a) their differing needs, experience, skills and abilities;

(b) their differing functions, roles and levels in the firm;

(c) the degree of supervision over, or independence exercised by, them;

(d) the availability of information that is needed for them to decide whether a transaction is suspicious;

(e) the size of the firm's business and the risk of money laundering and terrorist financing;

(f) the outcome of reviews of their training needs;

(g) any analysis of suspicious transaction reports showing areas where training needs to be enhanced.

Examples

1 training for new employees needs to be different to the training for employees who have been with the firm for some time and are already aware of the firm's policies, processes, systems and controls

2 the training for employees who deal with customers face to face needs to be different to the training for employees who deal with customers non-face to face

(5) Subrule (4) does not limit the matters that the firm may consider.

6.2.2 Training must be maintained and reviewed

(1) A firm's AML/CFT training must include ongoing training to ensure that its officers and employees—

(a) maintain their AML/CFT knowledge, skills and abilities; and

(b) are kept up to date with new AML/CFT developments, including the latest money laundering and terrorist financing techniques, methods and trends; and

(c) are trained on changes to the firm's AML/CFT policies, procedures, systems and controls.

(2) A firm must, at regular and appropriate intervals, carry out reviews of the AML/CFT training needs of its officers and employees and ensure that the needs are met.

(3) The firm's senior management must in a timely way—

(a) consider the outcomes of each review; and

(b) if a review identifies deficiencies in the firm's AML/CFT training—prepare or approve an action plan to remedy the deficiencies.

Note It is the MLRO's responsibility to monitor the firm's AML/CFT training programme (see r 2.3.4 (f)).

(4) This rule is subject to rule 5.1.8 (Obligation not to destroy records relating to customer under investigation etc).

7.1.3 Retrieval of records

(1) A firm must ensure that all types of records kept for the AML/CFT Law and these rules can be retrieved without undue delay.
